

The Maine Rural Water Association (MRWA) is a private, non-profit organization with a very simple goal: representing rural water and wastewater systems throughout Maine. The Association is run by and for rural systems.

We provide training classes for water and wastewater system personnel and administrators on federal and state rules, operation and maintenance, and finance; an information network keeping you in touch with your neighbor's system, regulatory agencies, and the legislature; and an effective voice in matters that concern you.

MRWA also provides on-site technical support on leak detection, process control, compliance, and source water protection.

In short, our Association is here for you, on everything from operator certification training to securing a grant. Call, write, or email us today. We don't have all of the answers, we just usually know where to find them!
